

Mr. GOLDWATER. If we continue to threaten the aircraft industry by threatening cuts in research and development in NASA and cuts in research and development in military aircraft and the purchase of military aircraft, we are going to see a sad but further decline in America's position. The entire opportunity of the future, the jobs for our children and grandchildren are to be found in continued technological development and advancement, and the ill-behaved Congress, whichever one it is, to threaten the future of American jobs by threatening the future domination of America in aviation and in space.

Mr. ROBERT C. BYRD. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that when the Senate completes its business today, it stand in adjournment until 12 o'clock noon on Monday next.

MESSAGES FROM THE PRESIDENT

Messages in writing from the President of the United States were communicated to the Senate by Mr. Leonard, one of his secretaries.

REPORT ON UNITED STATES FOREIGN POLICY FOR THE 1970's—MESSAGE FROM THE PRESIDENT

The PRESIDING OFFICER (Mr. BARTLETT) laid before the Senate a message from the President of the United States, which, with the accompanying report, was referred to the Committee on Foreign Relations. The message is as follows:

To the Congress of the United States:

This Administration attaches fundamental importance to the articulation as well as the execution of foreign policy.

Public understanding is, of course, essential in a democracy. It is all the more urgent in a fast changing world, which requires continuing, though redefined, American leadership. One of my basic goals is to build a new consensus of support in the Congress and among the American people for a responsible foreign policy for the 1970's.

These were the reasons that I began the practice of annual Presidential Reports to the Congress. This fourth Review, like the previous ones, sets forth the philosophical framework of our policy and discusses major trends and events in this context. Two other important documents complement this one with the more detailed record of current questions and policies. The Secretary of State's third annual report of April 19, 1973, covers our specific country, regional, and functional policies and provides basic documentation. The Secretary of Defense's yearly report of April 3, 1973, presents a thorough accounting of our policies and programs for national defense.

It is my hope that this Report will inform and lift the national dialogue on our purposes and our place in the world.

RICHARD NIXON.

THE WHITE HOUSE, May 3, 1973.

MESSAGE FROM THE HOUSE

A message from the House of Representatives by Mr. Hackney, one of its reading clerks, announced that the House receded from its disagreement to the amendment of the Senate to the joint resolution (H.J. Res. 393) to amend the Education Amendments of 1972 to extend the authorization of the National Commission on the Financing of Postsecondary Education and the period within which it must make its final report, and concurred therein.

ENROLLED JOINT RESOLUTION PRESENTED

The Secretary of the Senate reported that on today, May 3, 1973, he presented to the President of the United States the enrolled joint resolution (S.J. Res. 93) to provide a temporary extension of the authorization for the President's National Commission on Productivity.

LEGISLATIVE PROGRAM

Mr. MANSFIELD. Mr. President, will the Senator yield?

Mr. ROBERT C. BYRD. I yield.

Mr. MANSFIELD. I state for the information of the Senate that if at all possible, it will be the intent next week to call up Calendar No. 109, S. 70, a bill to promote commerce and establish a Council on Energy Policy, and for other purposes, and also, if possible, Calendar Nos. 120, 121, and 122, a trio of health bills which we think will be in satisfactory shape to consider at that time.

So it looks as if we will have a pretty busy week next week, if our hopes are fulfilled; and if not, at least we have indicated what the joint leadership hopes will be considered by the Senate during the course of the next week.

Mr. BURDICK. Mr. President, will the Senator from West Virginia yield?

Mr. ROBERT C. BYRD. I yield.

Mr. BURDICK. Could the Senator advise me if unanimous consent would be required to permit the filing of a cloture motion on Monday?

Mr. ROBERT C. BYRD. There is nothing to keep any Senator from filing such a motion on Monday when the unfinished business is before the Senate, and that is the intention of the distinguished majority leader, I understand.

Mr. MANSFIELD. Yes, it is my intention to file a cloture motion on Monday and the usual procedure will follow, with 1 legislative day intervening, and the next day for the vote to occur.

Mr. ROBERT C. BYRD. Mr. President, I suggest the absence of a quorum.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The clerk will call the roll.

The legislative clerk proceeded to call the roll.

Mr. ROBERT C. BYRD. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that the order for the quorum call be rescinded.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Without objection, it is so ordered.

UNANIMOUS-CONSENT AGREEMENT ON CONSIDERATION OF SENATE RESOLUTION 106

Mr. ROBERT C. BYRD. Mr. President, my attention has been called to the fact that the distinguished Senator from Massachusetts (Mr. Brooke) has offered a resolution today, asked for its immediate consideration, and the request was objected to, and, of course, that resolution goes over under the rule. I would not want to shut the distinguished Senator from Massachusetts out with respect to further consideration of his resolution that goes over under the rule on Monday.

I therefore ask unanimous consent to modify the previous order as follows:

I ask unanimous consent that the Senate not resume consideration of the unfinished business on Monday next until the resolution which is going over, under the rule, is acted on, one way or another, or until the close of the morning hour, whichever is the earlier.
